Never go out of style

Star letter

I love buying make-up but my attempts never seem to look quite as good as they do in my head. You can imagine how grateful I was last issue when I saw four beautiful looks that were broken down into achievable steps, with the brands included. Now I can try the looks out at home – thank you!

Claudia, by email

We say: You're welcome, Claudia. We loved reading about make-up artist Lucy Jayne's top tips too. If you're still not feeling confident before the big day, remember to hire a make-up artist or at least go for a trial first, perhaps taking along some of the images from last issue as inspiration. Well done on winning our star letter prize too – your Health Plus Perfect You Supplements are in the post.

FAIRYTALE VENUE

So you've found your prince, now you need to find the perfect venue to complete your fairytale. We suggest Bromley Court Hotel. This popular wedding venue in Kent has recently reopened its 180-cover Garden Restaurant, which has been completely transformed by designer Joe Hoare, from Tunbridge Wells. He's given it the feel of a 1920s Parisian brasserie, with beautiful trellis and giant urns imported from France, linking the interior to its two acres of landscaped gardens. As well as this, the Bromley Court Hotel has four banqueting suites where ceremonies and wedding breakfasts can be held – the Wellington Suite can seat 90 guests, the Ravensbourne and Shakespeare can both seat 65 and the Farnborough has space for 55 loved ones. ## Well healed

I was thrilled to see the Born Bad Betty shoes in the last issue. I'm planning a '50s-style wedding and would love some sassy pin-up shoes to go with my shorter dress.

Victoria, by email

We say: We're always pleased to see exciting new designers as well, Victoria. These shoes are certainly worth checking out for your '50s-inspired big day – don't forget to send us some snaps!

Next issue's star letter will receive a bottle of self-tanning oil, worth £24.99, by the world's first eco-certified self-tanning brand TanOrganic. This fuss free product will leave your skin feeling silky-smooth and perfectly bronzed. It can be easily applied after showering without the need for a glove – simply apply like any other body oil and wash your hands well afterwards. Best of all, it's fully transfer-resistant, so no need to worry about staining your white dress! Check out www.tanorganic.com
