

Hall Place & Gardens

Set within walled gardens, this venue boasts a beautiful, colourful façade of mixed red brick and monastic stone sits proudly alongside the River Cray.

The Tudor building makes for an inspiring wedding venue – complete with a variety of historical rooms with their own elegance and style. Four of these rooms are licensed for ceremonies for up to 100 people – from the grand panelled Great Hall, which is next to the garden and minstrels’ gallery, to the Great Chamber, which boasts carved ceilings and views over the topiary and has capacity for 50 of your nearest and dearest.

Later, stay in the Great Hall to enjoy your reception which has space for 100 seated or up to 140 evening guests. The adjacent Tudor kitchen also works well to house the evening buffet and bar, with the connecting north courtyard, ideal for those wanting a breath of fresh air, but still staying close to the party.

The Alexandra Suite

Set in the heart of Swanley, the Alexandra Suite has become an important part of the area’s history. The venue boasts a large dancefloor space surrounded by traditional columns with an intimate lounge area. It’s here that you can say your vows with up to 100 of your nearest and dearest, where a grand total of 300 could join you for the evening’s dancing.

Alternatively you could hold your ceremony in the quaint Pavilion where 30 guests can watch you tie the knot and a further 50, making it 80 loved ones in total, who can celebrate with you in style well into the evening.

Bromley Court Hotel

At 115 years old, The Bromley Court Hotel is still as glamorous as ever. It’s recently been refurbished to a high standard to create even more luxurious and comfortable surroundings for guests, boasting features such as showstopping chandeliers and an elegant staircase.

Choose between the several wedding packages available, safe in the knowledge that as this venue is a hotel and a restaurant the catering will be top notch. Enjoy its terrace, seasonal flowered walkway, summer house and amazing views – on a clear day it even commands panoramic views of the London skyline. In fact, this venue and its carefully landscaped gardens are an ideal setting for photos. You’re also given the freedom to tie the knot in one of five spaces that have room for 40 up to 150 guests.
